Abstract

One of the most well –known concepts in marketing is the marketing mix which is also known as 7P's of marketing and customer oriented marketing approach also known as 4A's of marketing. But, in present scenario of marketing 7P's dominates the 4A's it means marketing mix dominating the customer oriented marketing approach. This study contributes both marketing mix and customer oriented marketing approach are necessary for effective marketing.

Key words : 7P's(marketing mix) and 4A's(customer oriented marketing approach)

I.INTRODUCTION

The 4P's of marketing mix is introduced by E.Jerome Mc Carthy in the 1960's and later 3P's are introduced by Bernard H. Booms and Mary J. Bitner in 1981 . The 7P's comprise product, price, place, promotion, people, process and physical evidence which focus on the selling organizations rather than on the customer whereas the 4A's model was developed by Jagdish Sheth, a marketing professor at Emroy university and Dr.Rajendra Sisodia, a marketing professor at Bently university,it includes ac Teptability, affordability, accessibility and awareness. They both acknowledge that their 4A model was inspired by a similar marketing framework that coca-cola used successfully for many years.This model focus on customer oriented marketing approach.

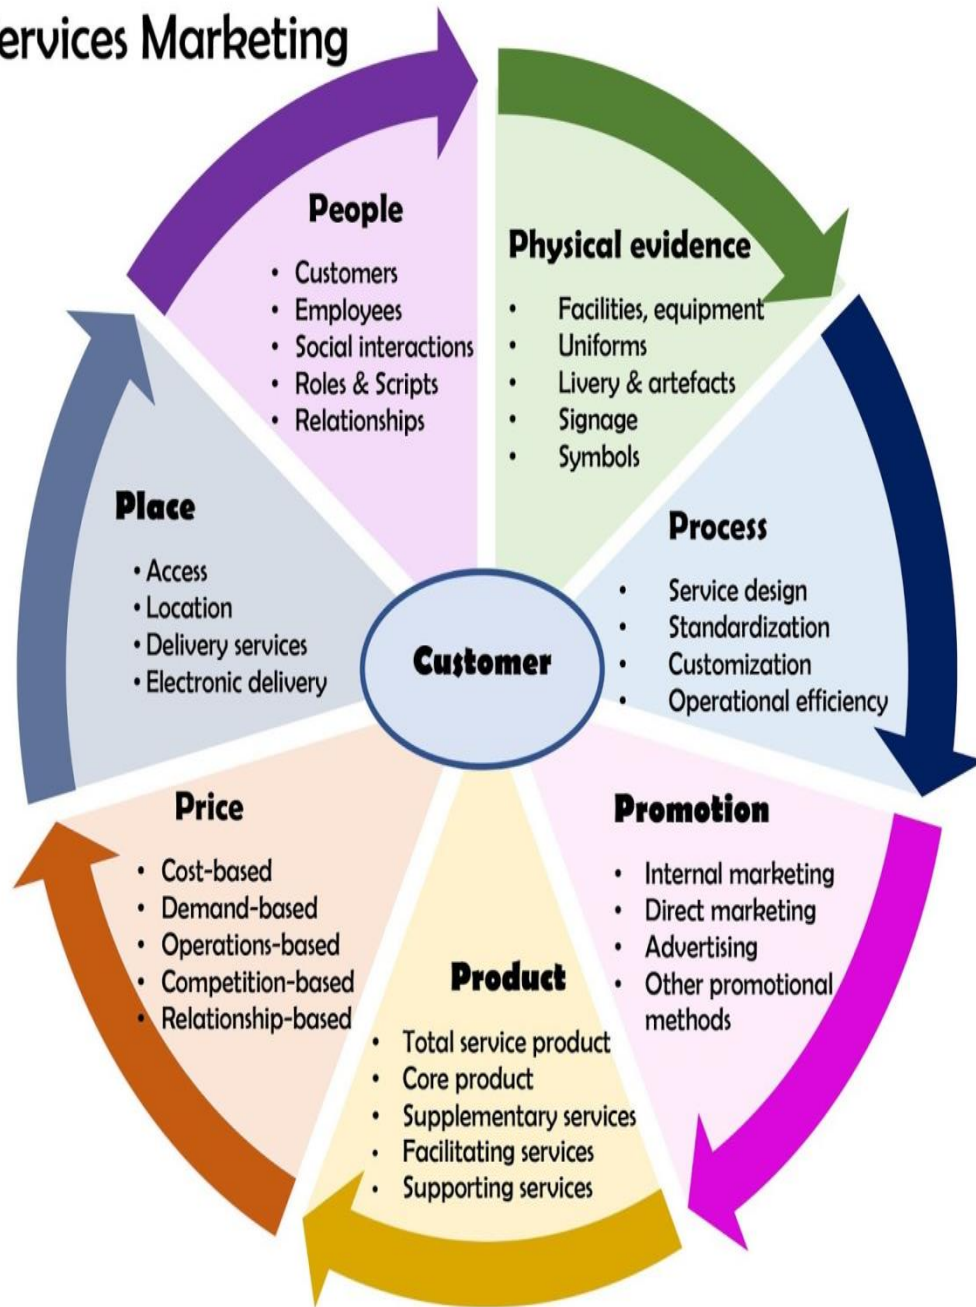

II.Implementation

7P's and 4A's:

The 7P's of marketing mix takes stand on the seller's side in market area .So with this marketing style the seller gains advantage whereas the customer didn't. Because here they discuss only about product, price, place, promotion, people, process and physical evidence but they do not consider about customer whether the customer afford,access,accepts and aware of the product.

Let's see the difference between 7P's and 4A's of marketing

The 7 Ps of Services Marketing

By seeing this picture we can understand about 7P's of marketing mix where it didn't mention about consumer point of view it only deals with seller's. Whereas customer oriented marketing (4A's) deals with customer point of view about a product. Let's see what 4a consumer oriented marketing deals with and why it is important for effective marketing

By seeing the above picture we can say that 4a's of marketing strongly deals with customer affordability, accessibility, acceptability and awareness where the seller must keep concentration on it before developing and promoting a product

But for effective marketing the seller organisation's must concentrate on customer point of view but most of the marketer's neglecting this. For that reason customer oriented marketing (4A's) must be remembered by every marketer and customer.

III.OBJECTIVES

To ensure how important customer oriented marketing in present marketing trends and how important it is for marketers and sellers . For a perfect effective marketing both 7P's and 4A's are needed.

IV.NEED OF THE STUDY

The present market situations are dominating the customer oriented marketing approach(4A's) by marketing mix or seller's marketing approach(7P's).So this study says to give importance to customer oriented marketing approach equal to marketing mix.
